One2One –Israel-World Jewry Teen Encounters

- RootOne Big Tent Event: In July, One2One hosted a pop up at this event for Israeli and North American participants to meet their partners in person!

- October-November 2026 Cohort: As we prepare for the first cohort of the 2026-2027 academic year, beginning at the end of October, we are planning for over 1,400 teens - the largest number of teens we've ever had for an October-November, expecting over 700 pairs of teens.

- Communication via WhatsApp: We recently launched an improved technological platform for One2One. Building on the success of moving from Zoom to WhatsApp for the online meetings, now participant communication is almost entirely through WhatsApp, which makes teens' user experience much better and our ability to communicate with them more efficient.

- English and Spanish tracks: The October-November cohort will include our English and Spanish tracks. The teens from Spanish-speaking countries are partnered with Israeli teens who are learning Spanish in school as a second language.

Mother2Mother – Israel-World Jewry Mothers Encounters

Mother2Mother, developed by ENTER in partnership with Momentum, continued bringing Jewish mothers together for personal online encounters this past quarter. The latest cohort connected mothers in Israel with peer moms from the United States, Canada, Australia, Argentina, South Africa, and Spain, offering opportunities to get to know one another through their experiences of motherhood and Jewish life.

Building on these successful connections and the expansion of ENTER's technology for new audiences, we are developing additional opportunities to bring adult participants together across Israel and the Diaspora.

Mother2Mother continues to offer a personal space for Jewish mothers to connect while helping to create opportunities for more adults to build relationships across communities.

Peoplehood Infused Schools

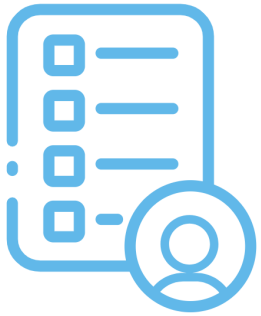

Israel's Ministry of Education's National Conference on Jewish Peoplehood: For the third time, ENTER co-sponsored this annual conference where we led an educational workshop on integrating Jewish Peoplehood into schools, which was very well attended. Additionally, ENTER was asked to select two school principals from the Peoplehood Infused Schools initiative to present their fieldwork in a TED-style talk to over 160 Israeli educators in attendance.

We are excited to have started the 2026-2027 academic year for Peoplehood Infused Schools with 21 participating schools in Israel (14 elementary schools and 7 middle schools): 7 schools in their first year, 4 schools in their second year, and 10 schools in their third year. There are also 12 Alumni Network schools that have graduated the three-year educational program and continue to disseminate Peoplehood Education throughout their communities.

ENTER Impact

Peoplehood Pulse – Surveying Top Jewish Leaders

As part of our Impact pillar, ENTER curates surveys targeting high level North American Jewish leaders called “Peoplehood Pulse.” The surveys focus on topics of broad concern, both current events and evergreen topics, to enhance discussions about Jewish Peoplehood among leading North American Jewish figures.

We are pleased to share the second Peoplehood Pulse report entitled, Turning to Education in a Time of Change.

In the aftermath of October 7, 2023, rising antisemitism, a change in the American administration, and the conduct of both the American and Israeli governments have shaken the long-held belief that being Jewish and being American exist in harmony. We asked senior leaders what is working, where communal resources should go, and what the Jewish People most need to get it right.
